Discrimination	S. 3406 📄 Amendments to the ADA (eff. 1/1/09)	The Americans with Disabilities Amendments Act of 2008 (ADAAA) expands the definition of a covered disability, and will likely subject employers to more requests for accommodation and more claims of discrimination on the basis of disability. It overturns a series of Supreme Court opinions interpreting the ADA, including Sutton v. United Air Lines, Inc., and Toyota Motor Manufacturing, Kentucky, Inc. v. Williams. Among other things, the ADAAA expands the definition of "major life activities" through a non-exhaustive defining list of major life activities, which contains both "general" categories such as caring for oneself, eating, sleeping, walking, lifting, thinking, communicating and working, and "major bodily functions" such as functions of the immune system, normal cell growth, digestive, neurological, respiratory, circulatory and reproductive functions. The inclusion of these definitions, in conjunction with the pronouncement that "an impairment that substantially limits one major life activity need not limit other major life activities in order to be considered a disability" expands the scope of the protection previously afforded under the ADA.
Eminent Domain	Proposition 99 📄 Restriction on Eminent Domain in reaction to Kelo v. City of New London (passed 6/3/08)	Under previous law, state and local governmental agencies had the ability to acquire private property by eminent domain. The U.S. Supreme Court had upheld the right to governmental agencies to take private property by eminent domain, and then turn over that property to another private person (e.g., for a development project) in Kelo v. City of New London. Proposition 90 was an attempt to reform that right of eminent domain in California, but Proposition 90 was defeated in a ballot measure in 2006. Under the new law, state and local government agencies cannot take owner-

		occupied residences by eminent domain to transfer to a private person except for certain very limited exceptions. These limited exceptions are for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ protecting public health and safety; ▪ preventing serious, repeated criminal activity; ▪ responding to an emergency; or ▪ remedying environmental contamination which poses a threat to public health and safety. For purposes of this law, owner-occupied residence must be the primary residence for one year prior to the state or local governmental agency's initial written offer to purchase the property. Amended Article 1, § 19 of the California Constitution.
Foreclosure	SB 1137  Notices to Tenants & Owner-Occupants (eff. 7/8/08)	The foreclosing lender must now give the tenant a 60-day notice instead of the previous 30-day notice. However, for Section 8 tenants the notice period is not changed and remains 90 days. Furthermore, the 60-day notice period does not apply to the owner--or any party to the note--who is occupying the foreclosed property. The owner or party to the note need be given only a 3-day notice to quit. Tenants will get this notice (in 6 different languages) once a notice of sale has been posted on a property. This provision takes effect 60 days after the measure becomes law. (eff. 9/9/08) For a copy of the notice, click here.  Added California Code of Civil Procedure section 1161b.
Foreclosure	AB 180  Mortgage Foreclosure Consultants Law Amended (eff. 7/1/09)	This law amends the existing mortgage foreclosure consultants law. HOA	AB 1892, 2180 Solar Energy (eff. 1/1/09)	Any governing document of a homeowners association that effectively prohibits or restricts the installation or use of a solar energy system is void and unenforceable. Reasonable restrictions are permissible. Amended Civil Code Section 714.
HOA	SB 1511 HOAs Request/Notification of NOD (eff. 1/1/09)	This law permits an association, with respect to separate interests governed by the association, to record a request that a mortgagee, trustee, or other person authorized to record a notice of default regarding any of these separate interests, mail to the association a copy of any trustee's deed after the trustee's sale concerning a separate interest. The request must include a legal description or the assessor's parcel number of the separate interest as well as the name and address of the association and a statement that it is a homeowners' association. Subsequent requests of an association will supersede prior requests. A request must be recorded before the filing of a notice of default. It requires the mortgagee or trustee to mail that information to the association within 15 business days following the date the trustee's deed is recorded. It specifies that failure to mail the information will not affect the title to real property. Amended Civil Code Section 2924b.
HOA	AB 2846 Amended Written Notice Re: Assessments and Foreclosure (eff. 1/1/09)	Existing law requires an association to distribute a specified written notice to each member of the association during the 60-day period immediately preceding the beginning of the association's fiscal year. This notice must include information about assessments, foreclosure, payments, meetings, and payment plans. This law requires the written notice to also include a statement notifying members that an owner may, but is not obligated to, pay under protest any disputed charge or sum owed to the association and by doing so specifically reserve the right to contest the disputed charge or sum in court or otherwise. This bill provides that if a dispute exists between the owner of a separate interest and the association regarding any charge or sum owed to the association and the amount does not exceed the jurisdictional limits for small claims court, the owner may, in addition to pursuing dispute resolution, pay under protest the disputed amount and all other amounts levied, including any fees and reasonable costs of collection, reasonable attorney's fees, late charges, and interest, if any, and commence an action in small claims court. Nothing in the section added by this law impedes an association's ability to collect delinquent assessments, as specified. Amended Civil Code Section 1365.1 and added Section 1367.6.

Housing/Finance	12 C.F.R. Part 226 Final Rule Under Reg Z (eff. 10/1/09)	This Regulation Z final rule establishes a new category of "higher-priced mortgages" that includes virtually all closed-end subprime loans secured by a consumer's principal dwelling. Which loans qualify as "higher-priced" will be determined by a new index that will be published by the Federal Reserve Board. The rule's definition of "higher-priced mortgage loans" will capture virtually all loans in the subprime market, but generally exclude loans in the prime market. The rule for these higher-priced loans:

- Prohibits a lender from making a loan without regard to borrowers' ability to repay the loan from income and assets other than the home's value. A lender complies, in part, by assessing repayment ability based on the highest scheduled payment in the first seven years of the loan. To show that a lender violated this prohibition, a borrower does not need to demonstrate that it is part of a "pattern or practice."
- Prohibits a lender from relying on income or assets that it does not verify to determine repayment ability.
- Bans any prepayment penalty if the payment can change during the initial four years. For other higher-priced loans, a prepayment penalty period cannot last for more than two years.
- Requires that the lender establish an escrow account for the payment of property taxes and homeowners' insurance for first-lien loans. The lender may offer the borrower the opportunity to cancel the escrow account after one year.

The rule for all closed-end mortgages secured by a consumer's principal dwelling:

- Prohibits certain servicing practices: failing to credit a payment to a consumer's account as of the date the payment is received, failing to provide a payoff statement within a reasonable period of time, and "pyramiding" late fees.
- Prohibits a creditor or broker from coercing or encouraging an appraiser to misrepresent the value of a home.
- Creditors must provide a good faith estimate of the loan costs, including a schedule of payments, within three days after a consumer applies for any mortgage loan secured by a consumer's principal dwelling, such as a home improvement loan or a loan to refinance an existing loan.

The rule for all mortgages:

Requires advertising to contain additional information about rates, monthly payments, and other loan features. The rule also bans seven deceptive or misleading advertising practices, including representing that a rate or payment is "fixed" when it can change.

Compliance with the new rules, other than the escrow requirement, is mandatory for all applications received on or after October 1, 2009. The escrow requirement has an effective date of April 1, 2010 for site-built homes, and October 1, 2010 for manufactured homes.

H.R. 1424
Emergency Economic
Stabilization Act of 2008
(eff. 10/3/08)

This federal law provides authority for the Federal Government to purchase and insure certain types of troubled assets for the purposes of providing stability to and preventing disruption in the economy and financial system and protecting taxpayers, to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide incentives for energy production and conservation, to extend certain expiring provisions, to provide individual income tax relief, and for other purposes.

This law, commonly known as the $700 Billion Bailout, strengthens the FHA-insured refinance of loans for troubled mortgages under the HOPE for Homeowners program. It also extends the tax exemption for mortgage debt forgiveness on home loans under the Mortgage Forgiveness Debt Relief Act of 2007 until December 31, 2012.

Cal HFA Establishes Mortgage
Refinance Program
(eff. 9/25/08)

Cal HFA is the state's independent affordable housing bank. Cal HFA's programs are entirely self-supporting and unlike general obligation bond programs do not rely on any tax-payer or state-funded support. CalHFA sells bonds and uses the proceeds of the bonds to make home loans and apartment construction loans.

		SB 870 permits the California Housing Finance Agency (Cal HFA.) to establish rules and regulations for a mortgage refinance program which was authorized by the federal law, HERA. The federal Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 (HERA) included a one-time increase in the national allocation of tax-exempt bond capacity of an additional $11 billion. California's portion is approximately $1.175 billion. The additional tax-exempt bond capacity can be used for three purposes: refinancing sub-prime mortgages, providing below market rate mortgages to first-time homebuyers, and construction of multi-family rental properties. (Note: This is the first time federal law has permitted the use of tax-exempt bonds for refinancing mortgages.) Amended Health and Safety Code Sections 50086, 51050, and 51101 and added Section 51058.5.

This authorization limits local governments to making or purchasing "purchase-money" mortgages made to low- or moderate-income homebuyers and to low- or moderate income individuals who are refinancing their mortgages and are simultaneously undertaking to substantially rehabilitate their homes. Amended, repealed and added Health and Safety Code Sections 52013 and 52020.

If the seller fails to provide this notice to the buyer prior to the execution of the contract, the amount of any liquidated damages will be subject to normal liquidated damages provisions. Starting July 1, 2010, and annually on each July 1 thereafter, the dollar amount of the minimum purchase price specified in the bill must be adjusted by the Real Estate Commissioner who will determine the amount of the adjustment based on the change in the median price of a single family home in California, as determined by the most recent data available from Federal Finance Housing Board. Upon making that determination, the Real Estate Commissioner must publish the current dollar amount of the minimum purchase price on the Department of Real Estate Internet Web site. Amended, repealed and added Civil Code Section 1675.
